In the English translation document, please amend the paragraph at page 4 lines 1-22, as follows:

If the STB is online, i.e. has an IP connection, the application logs on to the STB for the SMS/MMS application on the video control server. As long as the STB is online, the ~~STBSMS/MMS~~ can receive the ~~SMS/MMS~~STB. The STB application changes the received data into a form that can be displayed as an image on the TV set connected to the STB. For an SMS, the characters contained are shown as text. For an MMS, the images contained and the characters are shown as an image with text. This image can then also be overlaid by an existing video image by the STB (note: present STB including present SW clients for video services support the required “alpha blending” technology for overlaying video images). If the STB is online but the TV set is switched off, several options are possible, as follows.

- The STB stores the SMS/MMS contact temporarily and when the TV set is switched on displays a notice of received SMS/MMS in the form of a video image.
- The STB temporarily stores the SMS/MMS content and outputs an indication of received SMS/MMS to the STB (light on, sound via speaker).
- The STB automatically switches on a TV set connected via a SCART (provided the TV set supports this and is in standby mode).
